

London Find and Treat COVID-19 Testing Service

The Find and Treat team provide an advice and outreach testing service in residential settings for homeless people, including rough sleepers, homeless hostels, hotels being used as temporary accommodation, and pay to sleep locations for this population. This specialist provision has been put in place for the homeless population in recognition that for a variety of reasons the mainstream testing available is unlikely to be practical for this group.

Depending on the location you are in there is a way to refer symptomatic cases to the team.

What do the Find and Treat team do?

Once a case is reported/referred the Find and Treat team will call the site/team (usually within the day, depending on the time of day the referral is received) and discuss the individual and provide health and infection control advice and then where needed go out to the location and test that individual, identify and test close contacts, and in some cases where there is concern about an outbreak test a whole location. The outreach testing team also assess the venue and directly provide infection control advice. The outreach team will include a clinician (usually a nurse) and a peer worker.

The team work closely with the London Corona Virus Response Cell (Health Protection Teams) and Local Authority public health teams.
