

The London Cancer Patient Advisory Group is looking for new members

Who are the London Cancer Patient Advisory Group?

We are looking for new members to join our Group. The Group is made up of people who have or have had cancer. Our aim is to widen the diversity of this group.

What do we do?

We use people's experience of cancer to influence change.

We help people who provide cancer services to hear from people who need the services.

We give advice to support better cancer care in London.

How do we work?

Our group meets six times each year. Our meetings are currently held virtually on MS Teams.

If you would like to join the London Patient Advisory Group please contact: deborah.mcneill1@nhs.net
